“Depart from me, Lord, for I am a sinful man,” these words, uttered by Simon Peter, can be found on any one of our lips. What real significance do I have in the big picture of God’s Divine plan? Even though we try our best to hide it, we all suffer from a lack of faith. We get tired, confused, and often lack any sincere desire to put anything into our relationship with God. It’s easier to simply reap whatever benefits the world has to offer and call it a day. Floating along on the superficial currents of life doesn’t require much effort and seems to get us through the day. Confronting our own infidelity, apathy, weakness of spirit, and doubt in God’s providence, how can we even remotely be considered a worthy vessel of God’s presence or credible voice for His message?

This is the irony of faith. God doesn’t seek the perfect vessels. He likes the broken ones. There is something to be said about living honestly and sincerely, and wrestling with sin, imperfection, and weakness rather than skipping through the peripheries of life with pretention, arrogance, and mendacity. If we believe ourselves to be our own “god” and serve only ourselves, we close the door to ever being used by the real and only True God. But, if we at least acknowledge that there is One greater than ourselves, then even in our deepest poverty and lowliness, God can enter.

Lessons are best learned from those who suffer. Only someone who has been lonely and lost can attest to the beauty of both Divine and human friendship. Only those who have really lost their way know what it is to be calmed by God. The Gospel is messy because life is messy. There are no black and white solutions to problems and challenges that are hazy and gray. When our hesitancy to encounter God gets replaced by friendship with God, we become more aware of our dignity and the fact that we are loved just as we are. We cannot be afraid to share our struggles, reservations, fears, and sinfulness with others. Our genuineness and sincerity will speak of the God who blesses us in our weakness.

In our Old Testament reading this week we read of Isaiah’s vision of the Lord sitting upon His throne. There, Seraphim cried out, “Holy, holy, holy is the LORD of hosts.” Isaiah’s vision provides us with a glimpse of what awaits the followers of Christ in the kingdom of God. We get a foretaste of what awaits us at every Mass, particularly those where music enriches our worship. All liturgy is designed to worship God, and each liturgical form expresses a truth about God. Therefore, it is fitting to say, “Liturgy expresses theology.” Thus, we must ask, “What theology does the Ordinariate liturgy express?”

Our liturgy tends to capture the “Holy Otherness of God.” Like all liturgy, it is intended to lift us up into the presence of God. Yet, liturgy is not so much concerned with our feelings, as it is with transporting our whole being unto God’s throne. There in His presence, we worship with all the angels and communion of saints, and we hear the cry, Holy, holy, holy, LORD of hosts.

And indeed, as our voice joins those of the angels, archangels, and saints, Jesus, Himself appears as He descends into the Most Blessed Sacrament of the altar. There heaven and earth are joined, just as on the night of His Incarnation. It is here where our minds and hearts can be transformed, and made like unto His.

I want to invite you to arrive at Mass a bit early, focus on the miracle that is about to take place, and pray for the liturgy to transport you to the very throne of God. Holy, holy, holy Lord God of Hosts, heaven and earth are full of your glory! May we leave each Mass transformed a bit more into the image and likeness of Him whom we love, adore, and worship.
Registrations for CYO Baseball and Softball are now open. Teams will begin to form soon, so please register now. Registration closes on Sunday, February 20, 2022 and practices will start on February 21st with the first regular season games on March 25th. Players must register online by visiting our webpage or scan this QR code to go directly to Sports Pilot, the official registration site for the CYO. If you have any questions, or wish to volunteer (coaches, assistant coaches, team ministers, site coordinators, and others are always needed), you may contact us at cyopresident@atonementonline.com or cyoregistrar@atonementonline.com.

This weekend we will be collecting the baby bottles that were given out last weekend. If you forgot, you can still bring it back next week, or you can drop it by the parish office during regular business hours. The bottles cost about $2 a piece so we need all the bottles returned. All funds collected will go to the San Antonio Coalition for Life’s Sidewalk Intern Program which works to save babies from abortion. Questions? Please contact us at pddelaney@icloud.com or Cathy@sacfl.org or call us at (210) 861-3888.

Bioethics for Everyone is an adult education series exploring principles of bioethics and their application to common situations. This will be a seven-week series held on Sunday mornings in St. Anthony’s Hall, from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m., starting February 13, 2022, and will follow the children’s religious education schedule. This series is free and registration is not required. For more information please contact David Hegedusich at david.hegedusich@gmail.com
